

Mental Health in the Workplace

Of adults employed full time in the U.S., nearly 40% reported working at least 50 hours per week. When work takes over your life, it can negatively affect your physical and mental health.

